They grow up in neighborhoods.

Where kids grow up has everything to do with the lifelong friends they'll make. We thought about that a lot when we designed WestPark. That's why we included neighborhood schools, lots of parks and playgrounds, miles of trails, and a Village Green where families get together and have fun. There's also a Village Square with coffee houses, sidewalk cafés and quaint shops where grown-ups like to play. Oh, and there are very nice homes, too.

It's great if kids live where it's easy to make friends—because kids like to have friends to do stuff with. And it turns out their parents do, too.

*At WestPark,
you're never too old to make new friends.*

But the right house keys sure help.

Whether you long for a cozy cottage or spacious residence, you'll find it here. But stepping into your dream home is just the beginning of the WestPark story. When you step out, the tale is just as exciting.

Because at WestPark, it's all about living happily ever after—every day. With hundreds of acres of parks, miles of trails, and a vibrant Village Center of shops, coffee houses, cafés and restaurants—there are always places to go, things to do and people to see. Meet up with old friends or make new ones at the nearby Village Green, where festivals, concerts, and more keep the story lively.

It could be a bike ride.

At WestPark, life is what you make of it—a picnic, a bed of roses or all fun and games. With hundreds of acres of parks and open space, picnic spots abound. There are garden cottages and spacious residences just waiting for a rose garden or a town home if you prefer your roses by the dozen. And the Village Green provides the perfect backdrop for fun and games, as well as concerts, festivals, art shows, and more.

WestPark is an idea for living unlike any community in the region. Mix a refreshing twist on Europe's quaint villages with a lively splash of America's small-town charm and you have a taste of what WestPark offers.

At WestPark, it's once upon a time again.
